Council Votes Citizen Control Board for Grady

CONTRACT TERMS ARE KEPT SECRET BY BOTH PARTIES

INSTITUTION TAKEN OUT OF CONTROL OF MUNICIPALITY

New Administration of Hospital To Assume
Charge On January 1
Next.

PROPOSAL CARRIED
BY 22 TO 11 VOTE

Action Concurs In Major
Recommendation of Fulton Grand Jury Regarding Hospital.

Council Monday afternoon placed Grady hospital under the administration of a citizens' committee, effective January 1, by a vote of 22 to 11, thus accepting the major recommendation of the Fulton county grand jury affecting that institution.

The proposal was backed by Mayor-elect James L. Kuy and Aldermen G. Everett Millican, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of the borough council. Under the action Monday, all authority now vested in the hospitals and charities committee to conduct the institution will revert to the citizens board.

In offering the proposal Alderman Millican declared it is impossible for a council committee to effectively and efficiently administer the institution. Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the thirteenth ward, immediately gained the floor to "challenge the statement."

"I will never admit my inability, and I will never admit that the people of Atlanta have lost faith in this council as a whole," Mr. Barrett said.

"I am tired of this kind of talk. If this council is inefficient, if the people have not got faith in it, we should all quit at once and let them elect a group in which they have confidence and one which has the ability to administer the affairs of any department of the city government. If a majority of this council is willing to admit it is inefficient or that the people have no confidence in them I will lead the list in a wholesale resignation."

"I never said the people have no confidence in this council or that it is inefficient," Mr. Millican retorted, "but as chairman of the hospitals and charities committee for the past several years, I tell this council that a board of citizens can get better results for the poor people of Atlanta than this institution serves, than a council committee."

When Mr. Millican offered the measure, council was surprised to see the names of four out of the five members of the committee on the measure. The committee by a vote of three to two Saturday night rejected the proposal.

Councilmen W. C. Jenkins and W. R. Johnson, who voted against recommending the change at Saturday night's session, reversed themselves, and announced they would support the plan. In addition Mr. Millican, Councilman Nelson T. Spivey, another member of the committee, favored it.

During the discussion, it was stated that the hospital needs additional physical plants and that the administration with at least three executive boards composed of doctors of the various units makes its function cumbersome.

Signature of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale to the measure is the only step necessary to assure its becoming effective.

Under the plan the mayor will appoint a board of five citizens subject to ratification by council. He himself and the chairman of the hospitals and charities committee will be ex-officio members.

Other proposed reforms in administration of the institution will be considered at a meeting of the hospitals and charities committee slated for Saturday night at Grady.

In accordance with the plan, the white and negro units of Grady, the Albert Steiner clinic and Battle Hill sanatorium will pass into the hands of the board and from the hospitals and charities body.

Wife Gets Too Fat, Mate Given Divorce

RENO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—If the wife doesn't watch her diet, there may be ground for divorce.

Bartley E. Maywood, former Toledo, Ohio, hotel man, was granted a decree here today after testifying his 125-pound bride of 1887 became a 240-pound model in 1929. She wouldn't obey the doctor's orders to avoid rich food, he said.

Other alleged indignities were mentioned and Maywood said he gave his wife, Mrs. Harriett S. Maywood, half of his property, worth upwards of $30,000, when they separated in September, last year.

After the divorce, Maywood took out a license to wed Florence Van Keuren, of Omaha, weight unknown.

COUNCIL ORDERS CONTINUED FIGHT FOR HIGH CENSUS

Fund To Pay Special
Census Is Directed; Appeal To Highest Courts Planned.

Atlanta will continue its battle for a correct census enumeration, under action of the borough council Monday afternoon in instructing Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, to "find a $1,000 fee" for Louis Titus, of Washington, to carry the fight to the highest courts of the land.

Councilman Moore offered the resolution Monday afternoon after City Attorney James L. Mayson had presented a communication from Mr. Titus and his associate, C. Bascom Schemm, that the court proceedings would be continued until adjudicated by the highest tribunals for the $1,000 figure.

There was no opposition to the measure, and an appeal will be taken immediately to the circuit court of appeals of the District of Columbia. Mr. Titus will immediately file an appeal in the effort to force the bureau to recognize Atlanta's claims.

Councilman Moore gave every assurance that the $1,000 to continue the fight will be forthcoming.

Cuban Troops Taken From Havana Streets

HAVANA, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Havana had quieted sufficiently today under the martial law decreed last Thursday that the troops doing police duty were ordered withdrawn by the government.

Their commanders were advised to be prepared for instant duty, however, if need arose.

Meanwhile, the government continued its drive against communism. One hundred fifty persons arrested in riots, were sentenced to jail terms of a month each.

Reports indicate that the entire island is quiet except for minor trouble here and there. There has been some talk of a strike in Havana, but authorities believe there is little likelihood of this happening.

Capone's Sister Gets License To Marry

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A marriage license was issued today to Miss Maifalia Capone, 18, sister of Al Capone, gang chief, and John Maritzotte, 22. Maritzotte is listed in the city directory as a laborer.

Two-Cent Meals for Poor Planned To Relieve Atlanta's Needy Families

A plan to keep the wolf away from the door and the gnawing feeling away from the stomach of Atlanta's poor has been devised by the Atlanta Restaurant Association. J. R. Nix, president, announced Monday. The main purpose of the plan is to provide for centralized distribution of food to the poor and needy through a 2-cent meal.

As a means of fortifying those temporarily unemployed against the rigors of winter and other hardships, the association has decided to feed the hungry in a systematic fashion. Consisting of leading restaurants and hotels, the organization's members always have fed several hundred persons daily at their "back doors," never turning away a worthy request.

As part of the plan a challenge has been issued to property owners to furnish a location, centrally located but not on the main streets. Landlords having available space were asked to communicate with Lawson Turner, attorney for the association. The building will not be used as an eating establishment, but merely for distribution of food in cafeteria style to those bringing containers, which they will carry away after having

GENERAL STRIKE IN SPAIN BRINGS THREAT OF REVOLT

Red Flag of Revolution
Looms Behind Labor Movement That Spreads
Swiftly.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A general strike of major proportions, so serious that many feared it might lead to a revolutionary movement, had spread today to the four corners of Spain.

At Barcelona it brought the wildest disorders that city has seen since Primo De Rivera climbed to the dictatorship eight years ago.

At Valencia it resulted in a walk-out by thousands of workers in every trade. At Orreide, on the Bay of Biscay, 20,000 miners had come out of the pits. At Granada, far to the south, industry was idle and police were on the alert for rioting.

The red flag of revolution was flaunted at Barcelona, but Granada was quiet. Orreide's miners were reported ready to go back to work and there were no major disturbances at Valencia. Barcelona's unofficial estimate of injured was 100 but police gave no details of the busiest day's work they have had in years.

Madrid, where the trouble started last week, was quiet tonight after three days of rioting and 48 hours of a general strike.

The Berenguer government, sharply criticized by the newspaper La Nacion, which used to be an organ of the dictatorship, admitted that the strike appeared to be spreading but expressed confidence that it would be settled without serious consequences.

In each city where the strike was effective workers were demanding more pay for shorter working hours. The authorities, having no plan for the movement to communist agitators, rounded up radicals in considerable numbers here and at Barcelona.

SERIOUS DISORDERS FLARE IN BARCELONA WALKOUT

BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Serious disorder flared tonight in Barcelona, Spain's busiest industrial city, as thousands of workers walked out in a general strike. Half a dozen clashes occurred between police and strikers, one man being killed, and probably 200 were wounded.

Cavalry troops of the regular army were ordered into action and heavy guns and soldiers controlled the entire city.

The one known death here resulted from a thousand demonstrators began breaking street lights in the Ronda San Antonio and then staged a pitched battle with police and troops. More than 100 shots were exchanged, but the Plaza Cataluna strikers broke open and burned a saloon which had not closed under the strike edict. Later a great mob swarmed into the same plaza, which is the brightly lighted heart of the city, and piled up park and cafe furniture, setting a huge bonfire. The police charged, firing shots, but the mob returned the bullets and threw stones at the constabulary.

At another downtown plaza, crowds tore up paving blocks and seized bonfire of beer, cafe tables and other available articles to construct barricades. From behind these they answered the onslaughts of police and held fire.

Some street crowds shouted "long live communism" and "long live the soviets," while numerous cries of "down with fascism" were heard.

Two hundred thousand factory workers walked out. Rioting disrupted the transportation services and closed most of the stores, theaters and cafes. Bread lines were forming tonight, for bakers joined the strike. Police were ready to man the ovens as was done in Madrid last week, and a food shortage appeared imminent.

What had begun as a strike for more pay and shorter hours tonight assumed the aspect of a major political, possibly revolutionary, movement, and the authorities were reaching out for communist agitators.

Bobby Jones, monarch of all the golfing worlds there are to survey, Monday announced his retirement from competitive golf so that he may make a series of short moving pictures illustrating the ins and outs of the style of play that has carried him to 13 major golf championships in eight years and last summer brought him the four "big" titles in a single campaign. The picture above is a reproduction of the full-length official portrait of Bobby that hangs in the Atlanta Athletic Club. Before it are arrayed the trophies that bear mute testimony to his might. SIBLEY PROMOTION RIGHTS FOR P. O. IS EXPECTED SOON TUNNEL GRANTED

Selection of Atlanta Federal Jurist for Appellate Bench Is Predicted.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Appointment of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern district of Georgia, as either successor to Judge Richard W. Walker, senior judge of the court of appeals, or as an additional member of the three-judge court for this appeals district, was seen by politically minded Georgians Monday.

Reports were current at the federal building that United States Marshal Louis H. Crawford, accompanied by Frank Doughman, is in New York, but would return to Washington today for a conference with Representative John Q. Tilson, republican floor leader in congress, and others high in party councils.

Judge Sibley was named to the federal bench by President Wilson in 1919 and has since been recognized as one of the outstanding members of the federal judiciary in the southeast. He was prominently mentioned for the United States supreme court after the death of the late Associate Justice Sanford, of Tennessee.

Maneuvering over the post vacated by Judge Walker has been under way for some time with considerable uncertainty attaching to the probable appointment of the fourth member of the circuit court in this district. Judge William I. Tilson, of the customs court of appeals in New York city, it is understood, is being urged either to resign or to accept the vacancy of the court for the new appointment to that court, or, in the event Judge Sibley is promoted, for the resulting vacancy on the United States bench for the north Georgia district.

The conference, with Congressman Tilson, it is reported here, is being sought with a view of securing his influence with Judge Tilson, his brother.

U. S. MAY RETIRE ENTIRE SURPLUS OF WHEAT CROP

Legge Announces Determination To 'Peg' Prices
Again; 200 Million Bushels Involved.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Wheat purchases on a virtually unlimited scale and with no set limit on the price to be paid was outlined today by Chairman Alexander Legge, of the federal farm board, as the government's present policy to prevent "panic" on the grain market.

Declaring that recent purchases by the Grain Stabilization Corporation averted a "panic condition" in the grain exchange, Legge said the board has placed no limit on the amount to be bought in the current program.

If the board persists in its intention of saving wheat prices at any cost, it may have to buy virtually the entire surplus, which this year totals about 200,000,000 bushels, Legge said there would be no difficulty about financing these purchases. He said it was almost certain congress would be asked for new funds next month.

After a talk with Legge today, Chairman McNary, of the senate agricultural committee, issued a call for a two-day session here next Monday and Tuesday at which farm organization leaders will discuss possible new farm relief legislation at the short session of congress. The farm board has already said it does not believe any new legislation necessary at this time, but most western senators hold a different view.

The wheat bought by the grain corporation in the past few weeks, estimated at between 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 bushels, Legge said the board had reserved advanced new funds to the corporation, and that its total holdings were more than 70,000,000 bushels. More than 60,000,000 bushels was bought in a price-pegging campaign last spring when the government first invoked the stabilization feature of the farm act.

Legge said the call for his conference, McNary telegraphed Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Legge, J. H. Tabor, master of the national grain and stock exchange, and the Farmers' Union, and S. H. Thompson, president of the farm bureau federation. His wife said: "Conditions are so distressful that I feel something more drastic than the present discussion before congress must appear desirable."

Revival of the export debenture cap was assured today when Senator McNary announced he would introduce the plan next month. The Idaho senator said he believed the farm board's current buying program might help some, but felt something more drastic was needed. Legge is opposed to the debenture and has pointed out it will lead to retaliation by foreign governments.

The board's new stabilization program differs from the buying campaign last spring in that no price has been fixed. The board bought millions of bushels of the 1929 crop at a pegged price of $1.25, but when prices fell below that point despite the board's efforts, it abandoned the pegged price and bought at the market.

On that operation, he board is estimated to have paper losses of about $30,000,000. It is regarded now as virtual certainty they will need at least another $100,000,000 from congress this year. Congress authorized $500,000,000 for the board, but has appropriated only $250,000,000 to date.

An increase in wheat prices in the Chicago pit today was attributed by George S. Milnor, manager of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, to the organization's renewed buying. He said its buying had also prevented United States wheat prices declining to the same extent as those in Canada.

Legge cited also the fact that the price here is now only 2 cents less than Liverpool prices, although Liverpool is usually 14 cents higher than Chicago owing to the ocean freight haul costs.

"We are now working on other matters," Mr. Hager added, "and have hopes that we will not meet any insurmountable obstacles. This work necessarily requires time."

Representatives of property owners interested regarding the ordinance as meeting every requirement asked by treasury and postoffice officials and aided that nothing now stood in the way of formal payment for the site and an early beginning of construction work.

If the city ordinance meets approval in Washington, government engineers are expected to come to Atlanta to direct the building of the tunnel, through which electric carriers will operate.

Hammerstein's Widow Becomes Apple Seller

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—"Ladies must eat," explained Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the impresario, today as she became a seller of "apples," only 5 cents apiece, on the sidewalks of New York.

She stood in a foggy-drizzle at Chambers street and Broadway briskly polishing apples and calling her wares to passersby and disposed of two boxes of fruit in less than two hours.

"It's the best I can do now to earn a living," she said.

Mrs. Hammerstein said she would move her stand up to Times Square later today and sell apples in front of the Rialto theater, where once stood her husband's Victoria playhouse.

CHEST CAMPAIGN WORKERS REPORT QUOTA HALF FULL

Citywide Response Seen as Assurance of Final Success—$191,303 Subscribed.

Undaunted by a murky, blue Monday, workers for the Community Chest 1931 drive reported $70,063 for the opening day of the second week, bringing the total raised to date to just a little short of the half-way point.

After adjustments and addition of the totals reported by division majors at the luncheon Monday, net subscriptions collected, stood at $191,303, against a goal of $398,550. Herbert N. Hutchinson, general chairman of the Community Chest, presiding at the Monday gathering, expressed confidence that Atlanta would reach its quota.

T. Guy Woolford, of the Community Chest budget committee, and the Rev. High Moor were principal speakers on the program. Mr. Woolford stressed the point that greatest possible economy was practiced in the budget phase of the work, with the affiliated agencies of the Chest carrying out the same policy in their budgets.

In an inspirational address to the workers, Rev. High Moor assured them that the civic pride of Atlanta would not permit the Chest to fall short of its quota.

Rail Brotherhood Finances Under Fire

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A $150,000 suit against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood Holding Company and officers of the two organizations, asking judgment and an accounting as a result of some of the financial operations of the organizations, was filed in federal court today by stockholders of the company.

It was alleged by Annette Myers, Peter C. Myers, William W. Minn, plaintiffs, that the company, during the operation of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers national bank here, took over a large number of doubtful loans. The paper was paid for by money realized on stock sales, it was alleged.

It was charged that the action was "in violation of the trust reposed in the management of the holding company."

CONTRACT TERMS ARE KEPT SECRET BY BOTH PARTIES

But Reliable Indications Point to $250,000 Figure for 12 Pictures of One Reel.

CHAMPION QUILTS AMATEUR RANKS

Believes Contract Outside Ruling; Will Never Become Professional; Paper Signed Thursday.

A quarter of a million dollars. That amount is what Bobby Jones, retiring monarch of golf, will receive for his turn in the movies, according to the estimates of the nation's leading sports writers based on quotations for stars of the first magnitude.

It is recalled that at Merion one inquiring reporter approached Bobby on the subject of his rumored negotiations with the movie magnates. "Have you signed a movie contract for a quarter of a million dollars?" the reporter asked. Bobby replied: "Get me such a contract and I shall certainly sign it."

From all sources the estimate is the same, a quarter of a million. The Associated Press sports editor figures it at that. The United Press sports editor figures it at that. New York financial and theatrical circles, in which the contract was rumored some days before it was signed, figure it at that.

Jones' retirement was announced Monday simultaneously with the first news of the contract with Warner Brothers to make 12 one-reel pictures on "How I Play Golf," instructive pictures for the nation's ten million players. The contract called for a specific sum of money plus a percentage of the profits on the pictures.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—With a gesture of sportsmanship as dramatic as anything he ever achieved on the links, Robert T. Jones, Jr., today walked from the throne room of golf. King of all the sports in his royal realm at the age of only 28, the one and only world conqueror of golf had decided to retire from all championship competition, renouncing his amateur standing at the same time, to fulfill a contract to make 12 one-reel motion pictures on educational golfing subjects.

Jones signed a contract four days ago, November 13, with Warner Brothers Pictures, after considerable negotiation, and in a statement of surprising frankness today made known his intention to retire from all golfing competition of a serious nature, after 14 years of intense tournament play in this country and abroad.

In short, business has taken the place of pleasure and recreation, so far as the Jones golf is concerned.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A conference of agricultural leaders was called today by Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee to convene here next week to discuss the farm situation and the necessity for any further legislation at the approaching session. Senator McNary invited to the conference Secretary Hyde, Chairman Leage, of the farm board; L. J. Taylor, master of the National Grange; C. E. Huff, of the farmers' union, and S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. In his invitation, McNary said he desired "an informal discussion" of the farm legislative situation in executive session with the members of the senate agriculture committee before congress meets.

RAIL, MINE STRIKE IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Britain's railway and mining industries entered a critical week today as conferences opened between employers and union officials over proposed wage cuts.

Railway operators seek to cut 7,500,000 pounds a year from their shop payrolls in addition to reductions of 9,500,000 pounds previously demanded in traffic personnel pay. The companies suggested reducing the shopmen's "war wage"—a bonus established during the World War—which adds six shillings sixpence to the weekly pay of piece workers and four shillings to that of time workers, making the full war wage ten and twelve shillings respectively ($2.40 and $2.88).

The union spokesmen said they would think that over but some of them said privately that any attempt at wage cuts would be bitterly opposed.

Mine owners conferred with union officials at Cardiff regarding a new wage and time agreement to replace one which expires on November 30, but the meeting adjourned without having accomplished anything.

The situation in the mining industry, while not likely to come to a head as quickly as the railways dispute, may result in even more serious consequences. It is much more complicated than the railways problem because of different influences which apply to the situation in the several mine fields.

An agreement now in force gives the miner a working day of seven and a half hours instead of the eight he worked before the pact was signed. Owners in some fields have insisted that the shorter day shall involve a wage reduction. The miners have asserted they never will accept a wage cut.

At the conclusion of today's meeting one union spokesman described the situation as exceedingly grave.

Both sides, however, indicated they would exert every effort to avert a possible strike in the country's two leading industries. Should their efforts be unsuccessful, hundreds of thousands of men would be added to the already enormous list of unemployed which continues to be Britain's most serious domestic problem.

Parisian Woman Shoots Chilean Nitrate Magnate

PARIS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Lying seriously ill at a private hospital from several bullet wounds which police say were inflicted by Madame Gabrielle Joron, Jose Maria D'Astoreca, the "nitrate millionaire" of Chile, today implored the police not to prosecute his assailant.

Nevertheless, Madame Joron, a stately brunette, was held by the police on a charge of attempted murder. D'Astoreca is 52 years old and Madame Joron 42.

The shooting occurred last night in the magnificent mansion which D'Astoreca occupies in the aristocratic quarter of the Avenue Victor Hugo. Five shots brought the host and other servants rushing to the dining room where D'Astoreca and Madame Joron had been at dinner.

Andre Pilnis, a friend of the Chilean, was summoned. After he had D'Astoreca removed to a hospital he accompanied Madame Joron to the nearest police station.

At first she refused to answer questions of the police magistrate, but later attributed the shooting to a "too excellent dinner," which she said had "destroyed her nerves." She said she and D'Astoreca had been friends since 1901. She told the police she came to Paris only two days ago from Cap Ferrat, near Monte Carlo.

A blood transfusion was resorted to in an attempt to save the life of D'Astoreca. He is said by the police to have extensive nitrate interests in Chile and to have a son residing in New York city.

NO SEIZURE LEGAL WHERE RUM NOT MADE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—(AP) Without proof of liquor being manufactured, there can be no seizure of personal property, under the internal revenue law, the United States circuit court of appeals ruled today in the case of George Lewis, Butte, Mont.

Prohibition agents raided Lewis' home and charged him with violating the national prohibition act. The search warrant called for seizure of all property on the premises. Edward Ryan later claimed the property, alleging he owned it and rented it to the tenants.

He challenged the right of the government to seize the property, claiming under the prohibition law the property could be abated and closed for one year, but personal property could not be confiscated. The Montana district court decided against him and he appealed.

Presented by former Governor John M. Slaton on behalf of Mrs. Nina Fish McCleskey, a portrait of the late Chief Justice William Ransell Fish was hung Monday upon the walls of the supreme court of Georgia.

The painting, done by Dodomeade, the French artist, was accepted from Mrs. McCleskey, daughter and only child, for the court by Associate Justice Samuel T. Atkinson.

"Here in this courtroom," former Governor Slaton said in his presentation speech, "Chief Justice Fish presided for a quarter of a century, first as associate justice and then as chief justice. Here he heard the arguments of counsel in advocacy of private rights and of great constitutional principles upon which depended the welfare and hopes of a great people."

Justice Fish died in 1926, having retired a short time before from the bench to become dean of the law school of Mercer University.

DUGGAN DEMANDS RULING ON DEBTS

State Superintendent Asks Pointed Questions of Attorney General.

Declaring that he had been advised that some banks, as a result of the recent ruling of Attorney-General George M. Napier, "are refusing to further finance local schools and district calls are coming to my office daily," M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of education, Monday asked the attorney-general for a specific ruling on the "legality of unpaid appropriations to the common schools."

"When county boards of education," the school superintendent asked, "borrow money to pay for the operation of the public schools of their counties, as authorized in Section 95 of the schools code, do they incur a debt or only an obligation. And if this is a debt do they rely upon the state's appropriation to them under which the loan is authorized and made as a debt from the state to them, or only an obligation?" "Likewise," wrote Mr. Duggan, "when the governor borrows $3,500,000 against the $5,000,000 appropriated for school support is it a debt or only an obligation to the banks? And if it is a debt, whom is the debt against, the governor or the state?" Inquiry also was made as to whether a contract with a teacher constitutes a debt by law or only a moral obligation. The legal force of a legislative act approved by the governor in 1929 which recognizes unpaid appropriations as a debt against the state also was inquired into.

EDMUND B. OVERTON, COTTON BROKER, DIES

Edmund Baxter Overton, widely known cotton broker of Pelham-Manor, N. Y., but formerly of Nashville and Atlanta, died in Nashville Monday following a long illness. Mr. Baxter married Miss Carpenter 13 years ago and resided in Atlanta for a short while before removing to Nashville. The funeral is to be held in Kensington, N. Y., later in the week.

Looking At Life by The Observer

"Looking at Life"

In fairy-book days we always liked to ask "Is it real?" Beginning next week, this column will be devoted to a series of real life stories. There will be drama in some and comedy in others. But each will have a purpose.

The Observer, himself, is real. He sits at a desk in a great insurance company, where life passes in review each day. He knows more of the inside stories of more people than any average man possibly can know. In this column he will report from week to week what he has seen and what he has heard.

We have read some of the Observer's stories. We have heard some of them at first hand. They are vital, alive, real, and they are intensely interesting. Readers of this column will enjoy these stories. It is quite possible that they may profit from them. No one can read them without an enlarged understanding of life, its obligations, its opportunities, its uncertainties, and its actualities.

Next week, The Observer, in person, tells about "The Man Who Beat the Market." He did it in a way you wouldn't suspect. I think you'll be interested. Kindly watch for this column, one week from today, and each week thereafter.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salvers or Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID. He prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 980 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist. Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. Jacobs' Pharmacy will supply you and guarantee money back if it does not end all Pile misery.—(adv.)

Aristocrats Stage Sword, Fist Duel

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 17.—(P)—Count Hermann Salim and Count Ludwig Wentheim today fought a duel which was said to have involved the mingled use of swords and fists.

One version was that after the principals had clashed with steel for two bouts they dropped their weapons and began wrestling their fists until separated by the seconds.

They then resumed swordplay until a surgeon examined Wentheim's pulse. He declared it was beating too fast with the man near exhaustion, and ordered the fight stopped.

signatory to the London and Washington agreements.

In general, the smaller sea powers for example, Spain, Rumania and Poland, announced in favor of total tonnage limitation, or declared if limitation by categories was decided upon, a greater freedom of transfer must be granted them.

General De Marinis, the Italian delegate, took occasion to restate Italy's position regarding a naval agreement.

He said Italy's demand for equality with any continental power was still in question. He said, however, that the question of ratios was settled she was not in a position to express a preference between the total and category methods of limitation. He said, however, Italy is of the opinion that the total method is the fairer.

A move by Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian delegate, to commit the commission to a reduction of fleets by percentages, which would be fixed individually for all states at the general conference, was rejected.

Hugh S. Gibson, the American delegate, pointed out the Soviet proposal for "proportional" reduction had been definitely turned down in 1929, but Litvinoff contended the percentage system was an entirely new scheme. However, no support was given the Soviet plan.

Lord Cecil proposed an amendment providing budgetary limitation for naval armaments.

After spokesmen for the small naval states had declared that their requirements for vessels of small tonnage, such as submarines and destroyers, must be provided for, the commission adjourned to resume the debate tomorrow.

MARSHAL PILSUDSKI WINS IN POLISH VOTE

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 17.—(P)—Marshal Pilsudski, fiery Polish leader, emerged victorious from yesterday's parliamentary elections, his supporters capturing 247 out of 444 seats.

He thus is in control of the house in which he commanded only 118 votes on dissolution last August.

Large though his gains were, however, they did not give him the hoped-for two-thirds majority of 296 needed for purposes of amending the constitution. Government circles were confident that there will be enough supporters in the other camps to make up the needed votes.

On matters requiring more than an ordinary majority, it was said semi-officially, there will undoubtedly be enough adherents in the other parties to insure constructive work.

The official final results were given out this afternoon as follows:

Pilsudski supporters, 247; centrist-radicals, 82; national democrats, 62; Ukrainians and white Russians, 21; Christian democrats, 13; Jews, 9; Germans, 5; communists 5. Total, 444.

Build Students For Life, Gaines Tells Teachers

"The greatest industry in Atlanta is not its factories nor its stores, but the making of citizens and men and women by the schools of this city," W. W. Gaines, newly-elected president of the Atlanta board of education, declared Monday at a meeting of teachers, principals, supervisors and others connected with the school administration, at the Baptist Tabernacle.

Mr. Gaines said that a greater structure than a bank or a skyscraper is the man or woman who, through 20 years of training by teachers, develops into a high-class man or a noble woman. The Atlanta system is excellent, both as to administration and teachers, he said. "In this day and time, teachers have more to do with training of children than even the home or church," he declared, and added that because of the impossibility of children, they become a part of what they see and are told and the influence of the teachers is with them all through their lives.

Professor W. A. Sutton, superintendent of city schools and president of the National Education Association, spoke of the work and plans of the association.

FOG ENVELOPS ATLANTIC COAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(P)—Stranded on the grounded freighter Harry Bowen in a thick fog, 35 members of the crew tonight prepared to spend several more hours on the vessel, perched on a rocky reef off Montauk Point.

The crew of 22 on the fishing trawler Petrel was taken from the vessel, around off Rock Cove, Block Island, just before noon by coast guardsmen in surf boats.

Both vessels had run aground in the fog that has enveloped the Atlantic seaboard from the Canadian border to Florida and as far inland as Pittsburgh, and which has tangled shipping along the coast and land and air traffic for three days. No relief for the next 24 hours was forecast.

Mail and passenger airplane service from airports at Long Island and New Jersey was a virtual standstill. Only two planes left the New York airport during the day, one mail plane for Cleveland and Chicago and one transport plane for Jacksonville.

BROADCASTERS OPEN ANNUAL CONVENTION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 17.—(P)—Prediction that much of the crowing of the broadcast band will be eliminated within the next few years, with consequent reduction of interference and removal of necessity of splitting air time between stations, was made before the National Association of Broadcasters at the opening session of the eighth annual convention here today.

The promised boon to broadcasters and listeners is synchronization, by which a program may be transmitted by several stations simultaneously. The process was explained by a sample case wherein a program going on a frequency of 680 kilocycles could be sent on by stations on the same wave length, leaving the latter's wave assignment open. Theoretically, the broadcast could be sent down to include hundreds of stations, cut in on the same wave length but using various degrees of power.

The Carling Company is a Florida corporation, and has attempted to nullify the lease and demanded return of a $50,000 certified check post-dated with the borough to guarantee erection of an improvement on the

I am not surprised to learn that with the use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the tobaccos, LUCKY STRIKE increased in popularity by leaps and bounds. Such a record of public acceptance leaves no room for debate."

1930 CENSUS CREATES FURORE IN COLUMBIA

South Carolina City Officials Profit By Growth, Until Storm Breaks.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 17.—(AP) The 1930 census created as much furore in Columbia as in probably any other city, including Atlanta, which has been trying to force the census bureau to announce the 1930 population of greater Atlanta as that of the city.

Preliminary reports placed Columbia's population just short of 50,000. There was a great rush to add names and the final report put it in the 50,000 class, by a margin of less than 400 votes. Everybody was happy.

Then, after a perusal of the laws governing forms of city government in South Carolina, as that obtaining in Columbia, the commission found the mayor and aldermen found they were entitled to a 100 per cent increase in pay. When they complied with the necessary formality and began receiving double salaries, the storm broke.

Newspapers began to attack their action editorially and mass meetings were called. There were intimations that should the matter be taken to the state supreme court it would rule against the city officials in doubling their salaries.

Friday night 500 people jammed the Richland county courthouse to voice disapproval and adopted a petition to the county legislative delegation demanding enactment of laws that would enable the voters to recall the present form, and selected a steering committee to lead the fight against the city government as now constituted.

Two councilmen from each ward and a mayor elected at large would be the governing body under the adopted plan. The councilmen and mayor, serving without pay, would then determine upon either a number of commissions to operate the government or select a city manager.

Reporting that an "eminent attorney" had informed it that the present laws concerning the city government were so confused that any attempt to recall the administration would result undoubtedly in endless litigation, the legal committee appointed at similar meetings a week ago presented its plan of campaign.

It demands that the 1920 election law, which does not require tax receipts as a qualification for voting in the city election, be repealed.

A steering committee also was formed.

The petition to the county delegation prepared for circulation by the steering committee includes the expressed sentiments of the opponents of the government.

"The undersigned citizens of Columbia respectfully request your delegation to pass such law as will enable our city promptly to pass upon and recall, if it so desires, its present form of commission government, and to adopt a form of government with two councilmen, residents of and elected by each ward, and a mayor, elected by the city as a whole, all to serve without compensation and to administer the government either by commissions appointed by and acting under such councilmen and mayor, or by the city manager plan, as said mayor and councilmen may determine."

"We further ask your delegation to enact in such law suitable provisions for the election of such councilmen and mayor to be held promptly, within 90 days after the recall of the present form of government, if it be recalled."

"We further respectfully ask your delegation to repeal act 146 approved March 7, 1920, in reference to primary elections in our city."

Five shots were fired at D'Astorga in his mansion last night, several of them taking effect in his abdomen. The cause of the shooting has not been disclosed, although Madame Joron was said by the police to have made a complete statement.

BANK BANDITS FLEE JAIL IN TENNESSEE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 17.—(AP) R. L. Lassiter and K. L. Howard, indicted and held in the Knox county jail in connection with the robbery of the Bank of South Knoxville, three weeks ago, escaped jail just before 3 o'clock this afternoon and had not been retaken early tonight.

Howard, it was stated at the jail, sent a message to Sheriff Hackney shortly after 2 o'clock saying he wanted to issue a confession. Hackney had the man brought down to his office and Howard is then reported as asking that Lassiter also be present.

Lassiter was subsequently brought to the office and the two men were permitted to go into a small anteroom for the purpose of discussing the matter. They were in this room but a minute or two when they came out, Howard thrusting a gun in Hackney's face and Lassiter calling for a taxicab.

When the cab rolled up in front of the jail the men backed out the sheriff's office, leaped into the car and forced the driver at the point of their pistol to drive west. The sheriff and members of his staff came swarming out a few seconds too late.

At 3:45 o'clock the taxi driver called the jail and said the men had forced him to give up his car about four miles west of the city on Middlebrook pike.

GRAND JURY OPENS DIAMOND PROBE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A legal effort to learn the who and why of the shooting of Jack Diamond, New York gangster, was begun today by the same grand jury which inquired into the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph P. Crater.

Diamond was severely wounded in his room at the Hotel Monticello, on the west side, a month ago. He is recovering in a city hospital.

Because Diamond cannot appear at the inquiry the grand jury will go to his bedside before its probe is ended.

WALSH ADVOCATES SPECIAL SESSION

Democratic Leader Would Leave Responsibility to Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—An extra session of the new congress next spring was advocated today by Senator Walsh, of Montana, the assistant democratic leader.

He gave notice, however, that he would sanction no move in the approaching short term to force such a meeting.

"I believe it to be the duty of President Hoover to call the extra session," said Walsh, "and I believe in leaving that responsibility entirely with him."

The Montanan expects the short session of congress meeting in December to be unable to complete action

Law Gives Up Search After Half Century

WESTON, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP) After more than half a century the law has given up its quest for Richard Dowell.

Convicted in 1876 of slaying John R. West, Dowell escaped from the Lewis county jail while preparations were being made to hang him. He never was apprehended, although officers investigated frequent reports that he was living in one place or another.

Now a court has just ordered the case against him stricken from the docket.

If Lewis is still alive he is 92 years old—and a free man.

"Upon the many important public matters facing us," Among other things, he wants President Hoover and the senate to press for immediate entry of the United States into the world court.

The world court issues divide the senate coalition of democrats and republican independents. Because of this, there may be no united movement to force an extra session.

HURLEY WILL PUSH CONSTRUCTION WORK

Secretary Announces War Department's Plan To Give Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Immediate release of all available appropriations to speed rivers and harbors, flood control and army constructions during the winter was announced today by Secretary Hurley.

The war secretary ordered the appropriations made available through February, instead of spreading them over the fiscal year, in order to provide added employment. The funds available were estimated between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000.

Congress may be asked for a deficiency appropriation of $25,000,000 to push the projects still further in the spring.

The secretary said the amount of deficiency appropriations for which congress might be asked, would depend upon the extent to which such funds could be judiciously expended. The present funds will be made available especially in points where unemployment is most severe. The Mississippi and Missouri rivers are expected to receive a large part of the expedited work.

Royal Visit Planned.

ANGORA, Turkey, Nov. 17.—(AP)—King Boris and Queen Giovanna, of Bulgaria, are to visit President Kemal Easha here late next month or early in January, it was announced today.

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement. For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty, new luxury, new completeness and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

Your first glimpse of the new Chevrolet Six tells you that it is a car of appealing smartness and refinement. In every curve and sweep of its modern lines—in every detail of its new Fisher bodies, you will see the fine hand of the master designer and the skillful craftsman. And the more closely you inspect it, the more deeply impressed you will be.

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper and unusually efficient. Due to the increased wheelbase, the lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional fleetness and grace. And the new Fisher bodies combine with this more attractive exterior appearance, a new degree of interior luxury.

The upholstery is of fine quality mohair or broadcloth, carefully tailored and fitted. The number of individual springs in the rear seat cushions has been increased by 25%. The windshield and windows have been redesigned to provide wider vision. All interior fittings—as well as the instrument panel—have been made more pleasing to the eye. A large three-spoke steering wheel adds to the ease of driving. And in the coach, both front seats are of the one-piece type, deeply upholstered for restful comfort.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier, deeper and stronger than before. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism of the worm and sector type; an easier shifting transmission. In fact, every vital feature of the new car has been made better and more satisfactory to the owner.

Obviously, these many improvements are responsible for a higher standard of quality. And they become doubly significant when you consider that they are offered in a car which provides the smooth, quiet, flexible performance of a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—the comfort of four long semi-elliptic springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers—the safety of a gasoline tank at the rear of the car—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.

» » AT NEW LOW PRICES « «

Fine as it is, the new Chevrolet Six now sells at lower prices—making the economy and satisfaction of Chevrolet ownership even more outstanding. We urge you to come in and see the Bigger and Better Chevrolet. Its modern design reflects the spirit of the times—and it represents a value which will command the interest of every buyer in the low-price field.

CARPENTER TRIAL SCHEDULED TODAY

Defense Demurrer for Councilman Denied
Monday by Judge.

Trial of Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth ward, will be called this morning in Fulton superior court following Judge Edgar

E. Pomeroy's action Monday in overruling a defense demurrer attacking constitutionality of the license tax ordinance involved in the alleged transaction. While Judge Pomeroy was passing on the Carpenter bribery indictment demurrer, the grand jury was called into special session Monday and returned a new indictment against Carpenter in connection with the charges. The grand jury also returned a re-indictment of former City Clerk Walter C. Taylor for bribery in the same case. Carpenter, the indictment charges, received $800 from Mike Ellman, of Clein & Ellman, auctioneers, and paid a portion of the money to Taylor in connection with obtaining a license for the firm. Jack White, business associate of Councilman Harry York, Monday was denied a new trial by Judge John D.

Befriended Youths Try To Steal Diamond

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Hungry young men who knock at the back door of Mrs. Edith Newton's home hereafter likely will not receive a very cordial welcome. Mrs. Newton fed two young men and soon afterward two more came. After the latter two had finished their meal they attempted to wrench a diamond ring from her finger. They fled before police could be summoned.

Humphries on charges of defrauding the borough of Atlanta. A motion for a new trial in White's second conviction, for bribery, is pending before Judge Pomeroy. Judge Pomeroy's decision on the Carpenter demurrer pointed out that the indictment was attacked upon two grounds: First, that the ordinance providing a $1,000 tax on auctioneers is void because it must be levied under provisions which seem to limit the amount of such tax to $500 under the charter provision of 1893, and second, that the basic duty of the city clerk to act being unconstitutional and void there can be no technical act of bribery by any person with reference to the act.

"There would seem to be much merit in these contentions of counsel for defendant," Judge Pomeroy said. "Cases are cited which would indicate that the act of 1893 is unconstitutional and void. There is a difference of opinion among good municipal and constitutional lawyers on this question, however. "Realizing that lawyers' and judges' minds differ as to questions of law, and with due regard to all the facts and law of the case, and this court concludes that it is its duty to overrule the demurrer," he said.

Carpenter is represented by Mark Bolding, Hugh Howell and Jo Ewing. The prosecution is in the hands of Solicitor-General Boykin and Assistant Solicitor-General J. Walter LeCraw. The reindictment of Taylor contains three alleged transactions. One charges that Taylor received $400 from Mike Ellman in connection with the auction jewelry license matter, another charges that he received $500 from the same party and the other count involves the Carpenter transaction. The Carpenter indictment is based three ways: One, that Carpenter paid Taylor money to refrain from enforcing the $1,000 tax ordinance; another, that Carpenter paid Taylor not to enforce an auction license ordinance against Clein & Ellman; and the third, that Carpenter paid Taylor to issue Clein & Ellman a license for $22.50 for three-quarters of the year at $7.50 a quarter for a jewelry business.

COUNCIL REFERS VARIOUS PAPERS

Several important proposals Monday were referred to various borough committees by action of council as follows: Proposal of Councilman Thomas C. McLaurin, of the third ward, to force late primaries by compelling release of the registration lists not earlier than September 1 went to the ordinance committee, as did a proposal of the Atlanta Council Parent-Teacher Association lining sale of newspapers by juveniles to those who must assist in supporting their families.

Another paper by Mr. McLaurin providing for transferring registration from the city clerk's office to the courthouse was sent to the charter revision committee along with a proposal of the police committee to establish one division of the records' costs as a traffic court. Councilman John A. White's proposal to reduce realty tax assessment for Atlantans $75,000,000 for 1931 and thus save taxpayers $1,000,000 was sent to the finance committee at the request of the author for a public hearing. Mr. White declared assistance of the paper would assist business during the depression.

PARENTS' PROTEST BAN ON SCHOOLS IN OIL AREA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Many parents in the oil well sector of the city, who have been ordered to send their children to schools outside the gusher zone, today registered their protest by keeping their children at home. They based their defiance of the school board and the state fire marshal on the statement that their children must live in the shade of hundreds of derricks, and therefore, might as well attend school in the same locality.

PALESTINE PROGRAM PLANNED BY ENGLAND

Britain Will Spend $12,500,000 in Development Project.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A big new development scheme for Palestine involving the expenditure of $12,500,000 was announced by Drummond Shiels, undersecretary for colonies, in the house of commons today.

The scheme is supported by the British government, assisted by a loan and is intended to provide settlement for Jews and Arabs on land at the rate of 10,000 annually. The announcement, which was unexpected, came in the midst of debate in which the White paper, setting forth the government's policy concerning Palestine had been vigorously attacked on the grounds of injustice to the Jews.

Replying to bitter criticism by David Lloyd George who said he could only understand the White paper if it were written by anti-Semitic officials, Shiels declared the government had repeatedly affirmed its intention to carry out the mandate. "The government regards the two sides of the mandate as of equal importance," he said.

PROHIBITIONISTS SEE NO CHANGE IN ARIDITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Two leading temperance organizations looked back separately on the recent elections today and analyzed them similarly as a sweep for the democratic party, but as offering little comfort to prohibitionists' opponents.

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in survey for members of his organization, described as "vain" any "wet hopes" that the democratic landslide is indicative of a corresponding landslide of sentiment against prohibition. The Methodist Board of Temperance in a statement in its clip-sheet, said that "despite the use of hundreds of thousands of dollars" by anti-prohibitionists "wet gains were largely incidental."

The board estimated that less than one-third of the house that will sit in the 72nd congress could be classed as wet and that less than one-fourth of the senate could be thus designated. Dr. McBride, in reaching the same conclusion, said: "The dregs not only retained the overwhelming majority of the present senate, but in some respects strengthened their position. Creditting the wets with all known wets and doubts in the next congress, their maximum strength would still be less than one-third of the total membership of the house. Any resolution for the repeal of the 18th amendment would require a two-thirds vote for its passage."

Mrs. Boole, Pabst Differ on Beer Return Plans

HOUSTON, TEXAS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella E. Boole, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, told the annual convention today that her organization had "run to earth" and "branded as completely false" rumors that "the brewers of the country are getting their plans ready to resume brewing of intoxicating beer," in anticipation of modification of the 18th amendment. "One specific statement printed widely was that the Pabst brewery of Milwaukee was spending $1,000,000 in anticipation of early legislation of intoxicating beer," she said. "Fred Pabst, of the famous beer family, when asked as to the accuracy of the statement, replied that he had no intention of spending any such sum for any such purpose, but that free advertising was so good that he did not deny the story."

HOUSTON, TEXAS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Two groups of delegates to the National Women's Christian Temperance Union convention here about today preparing resolutions which probably will call upon the democrats and republicans, their respective political parties, to take firm positions on prohibition.

The activity got under way while the women still were thinking of a speech by Mrs. Mamie White Colvin of New York, who had held up the possibility of a third party in 1931. The delegates who were republicans held in numerous conferences to draw their demands which will be placed before the convention, as did the democrats.

FRED PABST REAFFIRMS PURCHASE OF EQUIPMENT

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Fred Pabst, Sr., head of the Pabst Brewery Corporation, today reaffirmed previous statements that his concern had spent $300,000 for new brewery equipment because he believed the manufacture of beer again would be legally possible. Shown the statement of Mrs. Ella E. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Pabst said she was "in error."

"At no time, at no place and to nobody did I make a statement such as Mrs. Boole says," he said. "Nor did I say anything that would justify Mrs. Boole's statement."

HEART ATTACK KILLS PROFESSOR

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Dr. John Littlefield Tilton, 67, professor of geology at West Virginia University, dropped dead from a heart attack in his classroom today. He had been on the university faculty since 1920, when he came here from Simpson College, Iowa.

ALABAMA FARM FOLK FACE WINTER DISTRESS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture and industries, said tonight there were 270,000 farm residents in Alabama who would become destitute during the winter unless arrangements were made to finance their crops. Commissioner Storrs' announcement followed a tabulation of county conditions by probate judges in Alabama's 67 counties which showed 49,640 families unable to obtain credit from any source to finance their food crops for winter sustenance.

Rainy Weather Again Expected For City Today

Rain that was absent most of the time Monday, while a sultry and murky day reigned in Atlanta, will return to the city today and probably will return engagements as late as Thursday, the weather bureau said Monday.

Pensacola, Fla., which got a fraction more than five inches, was the only principal weather bureau station in the country outside of Georgia to report more than one inch rainfall for the 24 hours preceding 7 o'clock Monday.

Temperatures will continue between 62 and 66, the marks for Monday.

MEMPHIS U. S. JUDGE FACES PROBE TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 17.—(AP)—The house committee here to investigate Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson decided at a conference today to probe charges that Judge Anderson used his judicial position to aid in a business deal and made a personal servant of a negro court employee. The hearing will start tomorrow morning.

A committee announcement revealed for the first time the charges to be investigated at the opening session. Chairman Hickey said witnesses including Bart Tully, partner in the Anderson-Tully Lumber Company, one of whose founders was Judge Anderson's father, will be a voluntary witness. Tully testified at a previous hearing in Washington. The Andersons retired from the company a few years ago.

Chairman Hickey said other voluntary witnesses will be Herbert Harper, assistant federal district attorney, and Phil Canale, Memphis attorney. The committee indicated Judge Anderson was charged with using as his chauffeur and messenger boy a negro on the court pay roll.

NEW RATE SLASH HELD IMPOSSIBLE

Power Company Avers It
"Cannot Stand" Any Further Reductions.

Answering a rule nisi issued against it July 23, the Georgia Power Company Monday served notice on the Georgia public service commission that it could not stand further reduction in industrial and wholesale power rates. Preston S. Arkwright, president of the company, signed the answer.

Revenues have already been so reduced by orders of the commission, the answer said, that earnings do not represent a fair return for investment. Development has been restricted, and in some instances impaired, the answer of the company declares.

Figures showing a 22 per cent decrease in revenues since 1921 were given in the answer, along with the statement that total revenues of the company had been decreased $3,500,000 by various acts of the public service commission in the past four years. Extension cannot be carried on if there is further reduction, it was claimed.

It was also contended that present rates are advantageous to the smaller Muskkrat Shoots Man!

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 17. (AP)—Tearle H. George, Jamestown fireman, died in a hospital today from gunshot wounds suffered when his shotgun was accidentally discharged by a muskrat yesterday.

George caught the muskrat in a trap and attempted to free it because it was out of season. As he pried the trap open with the butt of his shotgun the muskrat scampered over the gun. One of its feet touched the trigger and a charge of buckshot penetrated George's abdomen.

he made a record-breaking clean sweep of all the championships of Great Britain and the United States, has decided the opportunity to repair the family fortunes is not to be overlooked.

He intended to retire from title tournaments, but he revealed he had intended to "drop out quietly by neglecting to send in my entry to the open championship next spring." Now, however, and in view of the business venture he has undertaken, he felt it necessary that a "clear understanding be had by the golfing public that has made the great Georgian its idol since as a youth of 14 he first crashed the barriers of national championship attention in 1916 at Philadelphia.

"Of course, the matter of monetary compensation enters into the discussion," his statement said. "And it is for numerous reasons that I wish to be perfectly understood on this score. The amateur status problem is one of the most serious with which the United States Golf Association has to deal for the good of the game as a whole.

"I am not certain that the step I am taking is in a strict sense a violation of the amateur rule. I think a lot might be said on either side, but I am so far convinced that it is contrary to the spirit of amateurism that I am prepared to accept and even endorse a ruling that it is an infringement.

"I have chosen to play as an amateur not because I have regarded an honest professionalism as discreditable but simply because I have had other ambitions in life. So long as I played as an amateur, there could be no question of subterfuge or concealment. The rules of the game, whatever they were, I have respected, sometimes even beyond the letter. I certainly shall never become a professional golfer. But since I am no longer a competitor, I feel free to act entirely outside the amateur rule, as my judgment and conscience may decide.

"When these pictures have been made I expect to return to the practice of my profession unhampered by the necessity of keeping my golf up to championship requirements.

The financial side of the motion picture contract was not disclosed, either by Jones or Warner Brothers. It was understood the champion will receive a flat guarantee as well as a percentage of the profits. The estimates of what the return may mean to the Georgian range as high as $250,000.

"How I Play Golf."

The 12 "one-reelers" will be talking pictures entitled "How I Play Golf." They will demonstrate all the shots in the famous Jones repertoire, from his powerful driving swing to the delicately accurate putting touch that has been so conspicuous in the Georgian's march to a grand total of 13 national championships over a period of eight years. This will perpetuate the ability of "Calamity Jane," the champion's internationally famous putting blade.

Bobby will discuss the shots as he makes them for the screen. Slow motion will be used to accentuate features of his shot-making ability. The champion will be the only character in the films, unless his caddy figures in the background, in which event he may take with him to Hollywood, Cal., his favorite club-carrier at his home course of East Lake, Atlanta.

Jones is expected to go to California in March to begin the motion picture work. Warner Brothers announced the films will be released at two-week intervals after April 15, 1937.

"These pictures," Jones explained in his statement, "are to be purely educational in character and it is the ardent hope of both parties that they will be of some value, first by improving the play and thereby increasing the enjoyment of the vast number of people already interested in the game, and second, by creating an interest where none exists now among the many who may find enjoyment and beneficial exercise on the golf course."

Jones, who for years has been known as "Interviewy," was not on hand personally when his detailed statement of retirement was made public by Herbert H. Ramsey, president-elect of the United States Golf Association and a long-time friend of the world's champion. The Georgian, after witnessing the Georgia Tech-Pennsylvania football game Saturday at Philadelphia, left for his home in Atlanta.

Mr. Ramsey, however, paid him this tribute: "He has unquestionably during his career made the greatest competitive record in the history of the game. Aside from that, though, his character and personality are such that he has become a regular world figure. His withdrawal from competition will be greatly regretted by everyone."

The golfing world at large, abroad and at home, was not altogether unprepared for some such decision by Jones. It has been known for months that he contemplated retirement, partially at least, following his unprecedented clean sweep of all the available national championships this year. Nevertheless the actual news of the Georgian's retirement, at the very height of his astonishing career, came as a sensation to sportsmen everywhere.

Not since Gene Tunney renounced the world's heavyweight boxing championship in 1928 has the action of any titleholder aroused such widespread interest.

Seldom, if ever in the history of any sport and never before in all the annals of golf has any one man, such as Jones, held so completely dominating a position. In a game conspicuous for its lack, rather than abundance of consistency, Bobby has been the one "sure thing," the one outstanding favorite to weather the rigors of the galloping galleries and repeatedly justify the confidence placed in his prowess.

A "child prodigy" from the time he was able to swing a club under the tutelage of the Scotch pro, Stewart Maiden, in Atlanta, Jones passed successfully through the stages of hot-headed youth, disappointment, then swift success and, finally, world recognition as the greatest of all golfers.

From the time he first won National Open championship honors in 1916 at the Inwood Club, Long A. Jones has never been without the possession of at least one of the other figure in sports has ever enjoyed nor perhaps any other youthful hero, except Colonel Lindbergh, been accorded.

The life-story and achievements of this young man of 28 still will be bright on the pages of sport history when the youth of today is gray-headed. They may never be equalled.

Against a background of marvelous mechanical achievement, earning him classification as a "golfing machine," Jones has erected a reputation for modesty and good sportsmanship such as few of America's athletic demigods ever have enjoyed. His competitive fame has been comparable to that of such glamorous figures as Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth, his position unequalled as an American ambassador of sporting good-will on fields of international rivalry.

Great Britain has hailed his accomplishments with as much fervor as his life-long friends in Georgia. Millionaires have fought their way through the galleries to see him drive, pitch or putt. Royal princes have sought his companionship on the links. New York has welcomed him with an enthusiasm of popular acclaim, following triumphs abroad, such as no

LONE WOLF FILM AT RIALTO GOOD

"THE LAST OF THE LONE WOLF" with Bert Lytell. Newsreel and short subjects. Feature starts at 11:25, 12:35, 2:25, 3:55, 5:25, 6:55, 8:25 and 9:55.

There have, if you remember, been a series of these "Lone Wolf" pictures, of which this one, if the title is to be believed, is the last. Through them all Bert Lytell has been more than debonair and suave as the handsome burglar. A modernized Raffles, in short.

The current effort, showing all this week at the Rialto, is neither worse nor better than the others. Which means that it is an entertaining piece of screen work, nothing to get worked up over, but far better than lots of pictures that are presented with much more ballyhoo. It is all about one of those mythical kingdoms of a romantic Europe. With a queen who looks, not like a queen, but like a queen should look. A king who is probably a fair example of the type and a lady-in-waiting who is simply an average American girl fulfilling the dream of every high school student of the fair, or unfair, sex.

Lytell, as the unwitting tool of the villainous prime minister, gives his usual performance of vivacious villainy and charming unsmilingly. Patsy Ruth Miller, as the lady-in-waiting, looks and acts like Patsy Ruth Miller.

Of course, the villains are foiled and beauty—if not virtue—triumphs while true love enjoys the fadeout clinch in the background.

There is a comedy, a newsreel and other short subjects as the added attraction portion of a quite satisfactory program.

Divorce Motion Forces Joe Savoldi To Withdraw From Notre Dame

BOBBY'S MOVIES TO BRING HIM SMALL FORTUNE

Bobby Jones, 1916-1930

Thirteen Major Championships

The Glorious Finish to a Great Career

The pictures above selected from the photographic file of Bobby Jones' career in golf from 1916 to 1930 convey in a measure the story of achievement that never has been matched. He played in his first national championship, the amateur at Merion in 1916, a slim boy as he appears in the left panel. Then, after seven years of drought, he broke through in 1923 at Inwood to win the national open, his first major triumph. He is shown putting in that tournament in the central panel. At the right Bobby is shown with the four cups he won in 1930, the open and amateur titles of Great Britain and the United States. With this campaign, Bobby closed out his experiences on the links.

Divorce Suit Forces Savoldi Out of School

Notre Dame Officials Announce "Withdrawal" As Disciplinary Measure.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Matrimony has accomplished what a score of good football teams attempted and failed to do. It has forever halted "Galloping Joe" Savoldi from ripping off touchdowns for Notre Dame.

The big Italian from Three Oaks, Mich., hailed as one of the greatest of Knute Rockne's football greats, today was forced to withdraw from Notre Dame because he married and then started divorce proceedings. The withdrawal ended his college football career, which had but three more games ahead of it, and removed him from the great Rambler backfield.

Savoldi secretly married Miss Audrey Koehler, of South Bend, April 3, 1930, before he had gained football fame. The secret held until November 1, when his attorney, the same person who had married him, filed suit on Savoldi's behalf for a divorce.

The football star's friends immediately urged him to reconsider his suit, fearing his expulsion from Notre Dame. He withdrew the suit. But the "secret" reached university authorities.

Savoldi admitted his marriage but insisted he had never lived with his wife and that he would seek an annulment. The university officials, however, ordered Savoldi out of the Drake-Notre Dame game Saturday, and today announced that the big star had withdrawn.

NO MORE COMMENT.—They refused to comment further except to admit his withdrawal was the result of disciplinary action prompted by his suit for divorce.

Savoldi received the expected news he "had withdrawn" sadly and said he had no future plans. It was expected that he would play professional football although the ranks of the national professional football cannot accept his services until his class is graduated in June.

Coach Rockne refused to comment tonight except to say that he regretted it and that Savoldi was a fine young man.

Savoldi To Play In Charity Games.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Joseph Savoldi, Notre Dame fullback, who withdrew from school today, told newspapermen tonight that he would play in charity football games in New York city and Los Angeles this year, under the guidance of Knute Rockne.

President of A.A.U. Dies at Convention

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Joseph R. McGeehan, Boston, a former president of the National Amateur Athletic Union, died tonight a few minutes after being stricken with apoplexy while attending the A. A. U. convention.

He was stricken while attending a caucus to discuss nominations for the next A. A. U. president. Two physicians were summoned and after a brief consultation pronounced him dead.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A new "fastest human" was hailed today at the National Amateur Athletic Union convention when Mercury-footed Frank Wykoff, of the University of Southern California, was officially accredited as the first sprinter in history to cover 100 yards in 9.25 seconds without starting blocks or a favoring wind.

"Flying Frank" covered the classic "century" in the fabulous figures of 9.25 seconds in the last year, but through an oversight only one of these performances was mentioned in the formal application for a record.

Wykoff's 9.25 now will be submitted by the A. A. U. to the International Amateur Athletic Federation for adoption as a new world record.

ROSE BOWL BID LOOMS FOR TIDE

Coast Rumor Has Alabama As Opponent for Washington State.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Attention turned today to the annual western game New Year's Day in the Pasadena rose bowl, when C. Hal Reynolds, president of the tournament of roses committee, expressed the opinion that Washington State College, champions of the Pacific coast conference, would be invited to represent the west.

Coach Howard Jones, of the University of Southern California, learning of the statement, said his team interested primarily in its game with Notre Dame December 6, and he believed U. S. C. would decline a bid to the rose bowl in favor of Washington State.

The Cougars' opponents, however, Reynolds indicated, will not be as easily selected, but a rumor indicated Alabama's Crimson Tide may be asked to play.

Reynolds, however, reserved comment, stating only that Alabama had a splendid record in past tournament games and so far this season, Alabama won from Washington University, 20 to 19, and tied Stanford, 7 to 7, in its past appearances in the rose bowl.

Washington State played in the first rose tournament in 1916, defeating Brown University, the eastern standard bearer, 14 to 0.

'Gate' of Million Sought for Charity

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Fat wallets will be pitted against each other to aid the unemployed in the sale of seats for the Army-Navy football game at Yankee stadium December 13.

If the citizens' committee of the Salvation Army, which will disburse the proceeds of the contest to the needy, can make it so the game will be the highest priced sporting event in history.

Tickets will sell at $50 down to $5, and hundreds will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. A "gate" of a million dollars with another $250,000 in revenues from concessions is the goal of the committee.

The completed plans were made known today by Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the citizens' committee, and representatives of West Point and Annapolis Academies.

Entire management of the game itself will be in the hands of the Army and Navy Athletic Associations. The citizens' committee will be responsible for tickets other than those retained by the athletic associations of the two services. About 30,000 of the 78,000 stadium seats will be purchased by the service organizations at $5, instead of the $5 they used to pay for tickets before Army and Navy football relations were disrupted.

Son of Joe Engle Killed by Auto

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Bryant Engle, nine years old, was killed tonight by an automobile a few hours after his mother had been granted a divorce from the youth's father, Joseph W. Engle, president of the Chattanooga Baseball Club.

The youth received a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was dead upon arrival at Emergency hospital. Earlier in the day his mother had been granted a divorce and $275 a month alimony from Engle, a scout and former pitcher for the Washington Senators. She also had been awarded custody of the child by the District of Columbia supreme court. Mrs. Engle charged her husband deserted her in April, 1928. They were married in 1916 at Union City, Tennessee.

Without seeming to claim any occult powers, this corner feels safe in saying that Bobby Jones' decision to retire from major tournament golf play was no sudden decision. It was a cumulative decision reached by an orderly process of elimination, as sharply marked as any golf championship itself.

Just after he returned from England tired and worn, Bobby said to his mother he never would go to England again. Then after fighting his way across the burning turf at Interlachen and winning the national open, he told "Miss Clara" he never again would play in the national open.

These intimate confidences were told me by Big Bob after Interlachen was over, but it was not the time then to make them public.

That left only the national amateur as a possible lure for Bobby, for he had given his word that England and the national open definitely were out.

"I am glad that he added the amateur to the list," Mrs. Jones said yesterday. "Anything he might do in the amateur would be an anti-climax after this year. But I already knew he was through with the open and with going off to England."

GRACEFUL FAREWELL.

Bobby's decision announced formally through the United States Golf Association yesterday just adds another graceful public appearance to the panorama of a man who in the public eye has never committed a faux pas.

His halting words in accepting his first open championship cup at Inwood in 1923 endeared the modest young man to an admiring public. Through subsequent years of competition his contacts with people have been marked by courtesy and diplomacy. And his farewell gesture was dignified and sincere.

Bobby Jones disliked crowds and adulation embarrassed him. Yet never once did he wound the feelings of a man, woman or child. He was never too busy to stop for autographs or for pictures. In completing the circle of competition in major golf that began in 1916 at Merion and ended there in 1930 he described a parabola in sport that will stand forever as one of man's supreme achievements in human relations.

HE SAVED US THIS.

It is painful enough to see a football team whose predecessors have stormed the heights of gridiron glory having those old familiar uniforms bowled over into the mud.

But one develops a philosophy on football knowing that supply of material varies with the seasons and sends first one team then another to the top.

And one has seen, without weeping, diamond idols of another day making pitiful efforts to whip baseballs with the old zip. One has seen one-time tigers of the prize ring slowed down to a shambling gait, unable to slip head punches, finally go down for the count.

But when one thinks of watching Bobby Jones struggling around a golf course fighting for control of his irons and wielding a wobbly putter—and reading press comment on how he has slipped—one shudders at the prospect.

One likes to remember him sweeping down the home stretch at Merion and then marching through swarms of cheering people back from the thirteenth green surrounded by his marine guard, grinning kind of sheepishly as if he had been arrested for stealing watermelons or something.

PETRELS TO THE FORE.

While Tech and Georgia go into a period of intensive rest—that's a good expression—before starting preparations for their Thanksgiving Day football games, Oglethorpe's touring Petrels take the center of the stage, with none to share the interest.

The Petrels face a finishing assignment as hard as anybody in the field. They play Mercer next Saturday.

BOBBY RETIRES; TO MAKE MOVIES

Atlanta Star Not Compete in Tourneys After 1930.

By Frank Getty.

United Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Bobby Jones, whose performance this year in winning the four major national championships stamped him as the greatest golfer of all time, announced today his definite retirement "from golfing competition of a serious nature."

At the same time, the Atlanta announced that on November 13 he signed a contract with Warner Brothers Pictures to make a series of 12 one-reel films exhibiting and explaining "the methods which I employ in making the various shots ordinarily required in playing a round of golf."

Bobby's remuneration will be between $125,000 and $500,000.

Jones said that he was not certain that the step he was taking is in a strict sense a violation of the amateur rule.

The decision of the Atlanta, who has conquered all the golfing worlds there are, comes as no great surprise to his friends. The motion picture firm which has engaged his services began negotiations with Jones long ago, and even before Bobby had completed his season's triumph by winning the national amateur championship at Merion last September, it was openly reported that he would sign with Warner Brothers before the end of the year.

FOLLOWING VON ELM.—The retirement of Jones from amateur competition follows that of George Von Elm, who is now playing in tournaments as a "gentleman pro" and accepting whatever money prizes he wins.

This leaves the amateur ranks, long dominated by Bobby, without a real leader, as Von Elm was generally regarded as the second best Simon-pure. Gene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., this year's runner-up, is not considered in a class with Jones and Von Elm. Jones is retiring at the age of 28, the interim. Bobby Law, who sustained a slight fracture of the arm in the Penn game, will not be available, but all the other casualties at Philadelphia are expected to be back in plenty of time.

Doug Graydon, who was left in Atlanta, and Earl Dunlap, who sat on the sidelines, will both be back and ready to go when Florida marches into Grant field.

BOB'S STATEMENT.

"Upon the close of the 1930 golfing season I determined definitely that I would withdraw entirely from golfing competition of a serious nature. Fourteen years of intense tournament play in this country and abroad had given me about all I wanted in the way of hard work in the game. I had reached a point where I felt that my profession required more of my time and effort, leaving golf in its proper place, a means of obtaining recreation and enjoyment.

"My intention at the time was to make no announcement of retirement, but merely to drop out quietly by neglecting to send in my entry to the open championship next spring. There was at that time no reason to make a definite statement of any kind. But since then, after careful consideration, I have decided upon a step which I think ought to be explained to the golfers of this country, in order that they may have a clear understanding of what the thing is and why it is being done.

"On November 13, 1930, I signed a contract with Warner Brothers Pictures to make a series of 12 one-reel motion pictures devoted entirely to exhibiting and explaining the methods which I employ in playing the various shots ordinarily required in playing a round of golf. These pictures are to be purely educational in character and it is the ardent hope of both parties

Decision Commended By Regretful Friends

"Bobby Did Right Thing at Right Time," in Opinion of Admirers.

By Ralph McGill.

Bobby Jones' decision to retire from competitive championship golf, announced Monday afternoon by the U. S. G. A. in New York and confirmed by Bobby in Atlanta, was unanimously commended by his friends.

Their commendation of the decision was tinged with regret that such a magnificent athlete and splendid gentleman should be lost to competitive golf. Their opinion was, however, that regrettable as his loss would be, he had done the right thing at the right time.

JACKETS BACK ON JOB TODAY

Limbering-up Exercises and Signal Drill Follow Rest of Monday.

There is, proverbially to the contrary, rest for the weary—the weary, at least, of Georgia Tech's football squad. The rest, however, is but for a day. Monday was the Yellow Jackets' own, to do with as they chose. The strain of the campaign was forgotten as the boys flocked off to do the town.

Today, however, they step back into ranks to open the long, long grind in the Thanksgiving Day clash with Florida's Gators here.

Coach Alexander plans to bring his squad on slowly for the game, with no scrimmages on the books until the latter part of the week. Today's drill will be devoted to limbering up work, with signal drill as the piece de resistance.

The Grey Devils, meanwhile, will take a look-see at the "Gator maneuvers." They will start assimilating the tricks of Florida's trade for future presentation to the varsity in scrimmage and dummy scrimmage.

Tech's injured list for the Florida game seems slated to be cut to a single member, barring accidents during the interim. Bobby Law, who sustained a slight fracture of the arm in the Penn game, will not be available, but all the other casualties at Philadelphia are expected to be back in plenty of time.

Doug Graydon, who was left in Atlanta, and Earl Dunlap, who sat on the sidelines, will both be back and ready to go when Florida marches into Grant field.

Pros Want Bob To Try for Only Title He's Missed

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—America's golf professionals, whose profits have been trimmed by Bobby Jones' victories in open tournaments, want the Georgian to go after the only major title he hasn't won—the P. G. A. championship.

Today, in the opening session of the Professional Golfers' Association of America meeting, the pros approved a resolution commending Jones on his forthright stand concerning his amateur status, and expressed regret that he will no longer be "Jones against the field" in the national and British open tournaments.

The final paragraph said: "Should Bobby's entrance into the movies affect his amateur standing, the professionals will look forward with joy to meeting him at some future time in their own match play championship—the one world he has not conquered."

The New Ford

is an economical car

to own and drive

LOW FIRST COST, LOW
COST OF OPERATION
AND UP-KEEP, AND LOW
YEARLY DEPRECIATION
MEAN A DISTINCT SAVING TO EVERY PURCHASER

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation. During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

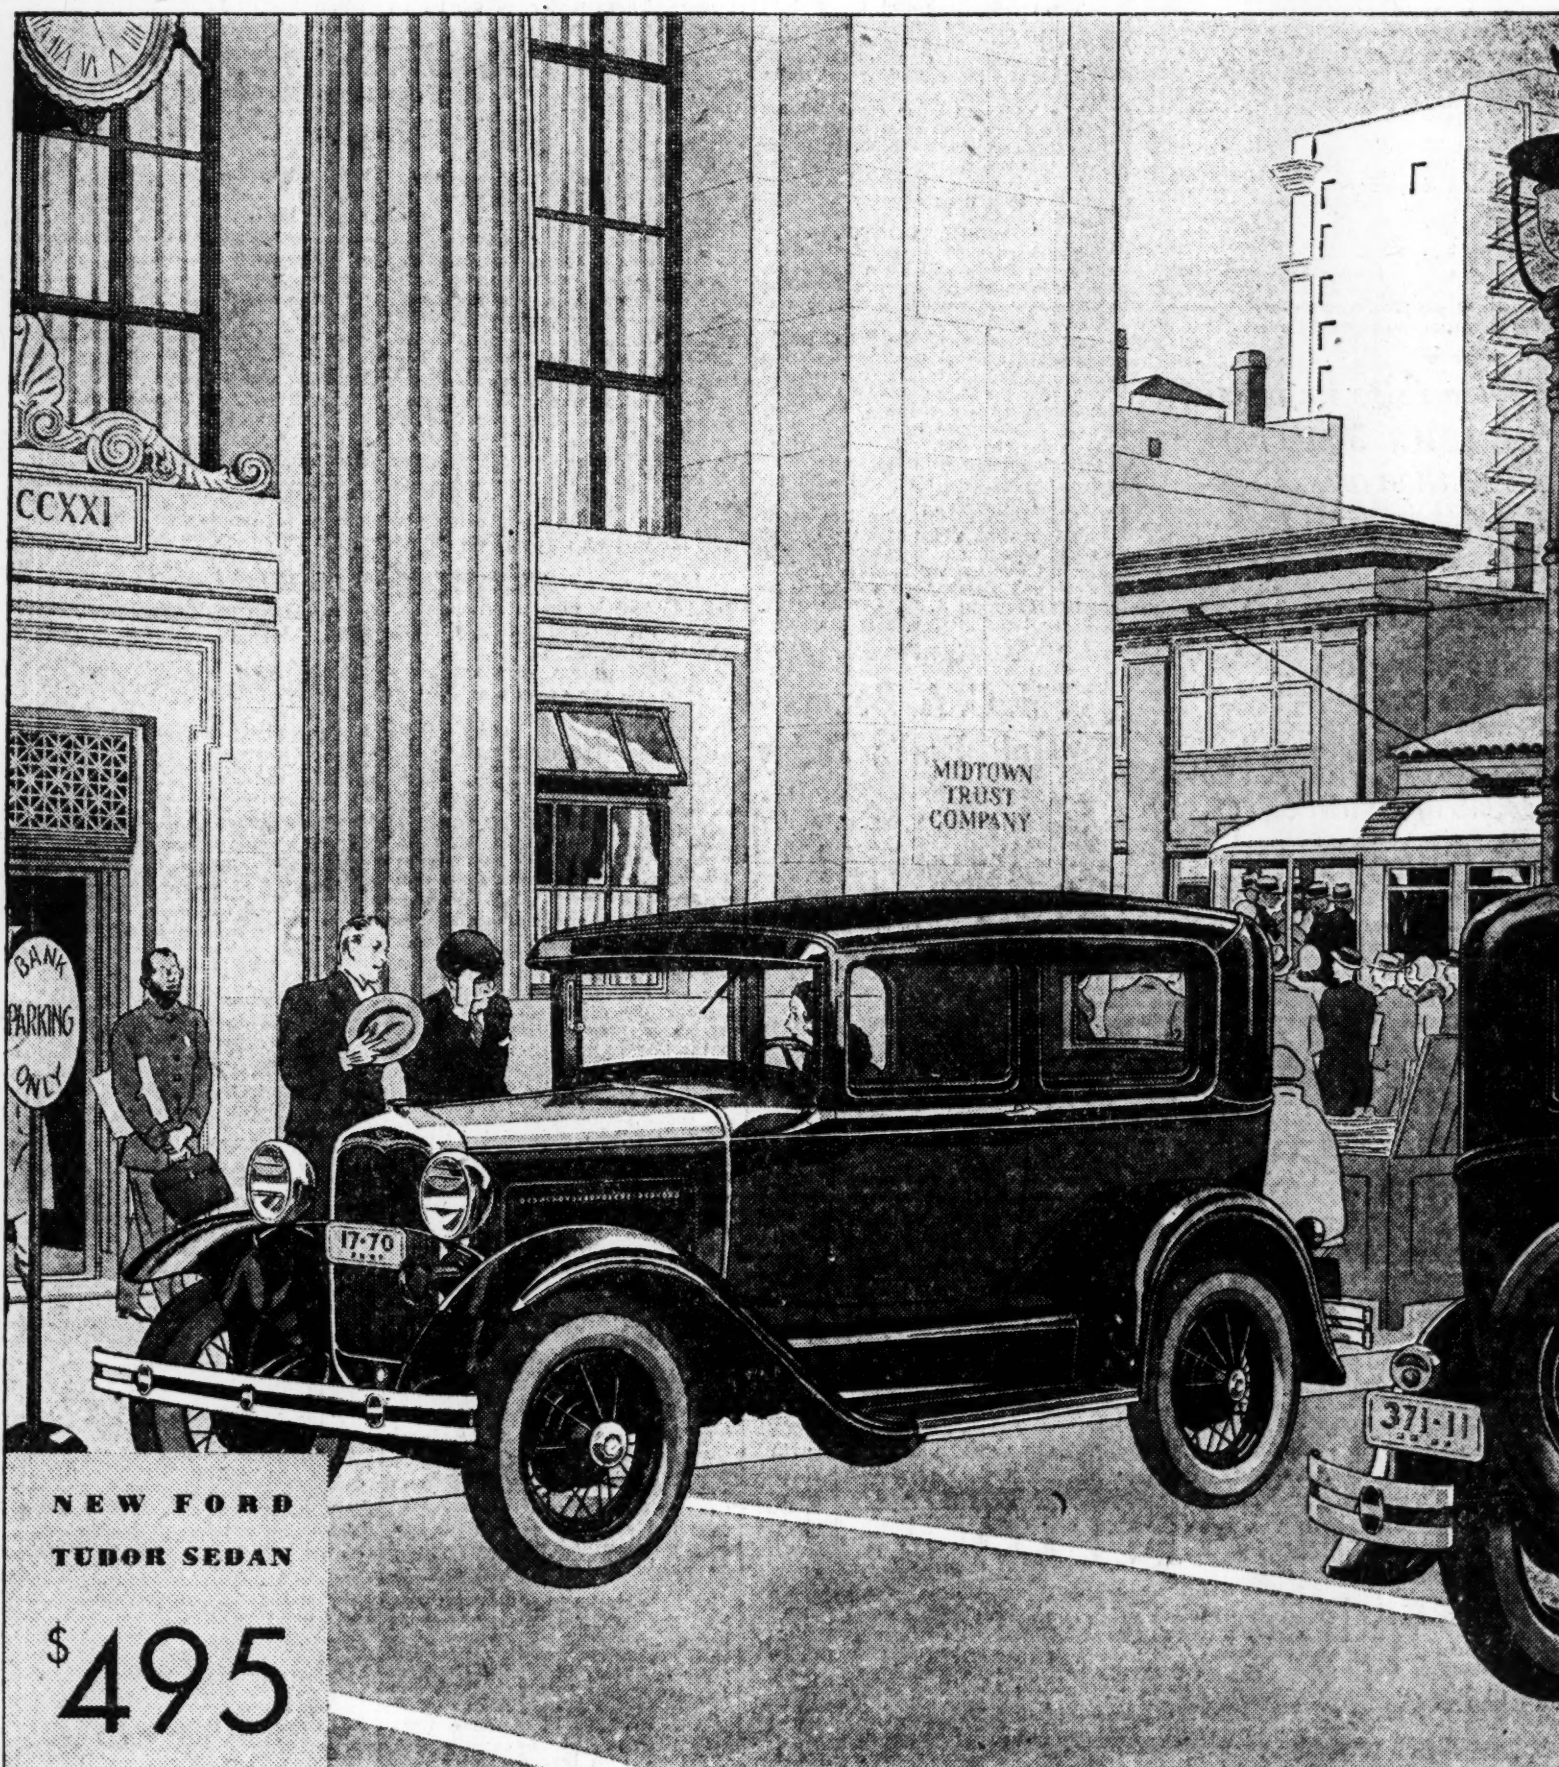

Evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in its selection by large industrial companies which keep careful cost records. Many of these operate fleets of fifty, one hundred and two hundred Ford cars and trucks. One company has eight thousand.

Police departments of large cities are also using a large number of Fords. In their ceaseless vigil, these cars are driven virtually twenty-four hours a day.

A fleet of 42 Model A Fords in Louisville (Kentucky) covered a total of 2,620,800 miles in twelve months, or the equivalent of 109 times around the world. Five new Fords on police duty in Niagara Falls (New York) have been driven more than 100,000 miles each. In Miami (Florida) a police Ford has gone 120,000 miles.

The average for the eighteen Fords in Omaha (Nebraska) is 35,000 miles per car for two years of police service. The superintendent of automotive equipment says repairs for the fleet have been "very low."

The police departments of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, San Francisco and other large cities use hundreds of Ford cars and trucks. In New York, the total exceeds 450.

The reasons for the good performance and economy of the new Ford are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, it is an outstanding example of craftsmanship in volume production.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price. Ask the nearest Ford dealer for a demonstration.

Note These Low Prices

There is a Ford car for every need and purpose at an unusually low price. Appointments and upholstery are in keeping with its mechanical excellence. You may choose from a variety of body colors.

California Belle Travels Across Continent To Wed Here

Journeying across the continent to wed in the city of her birth, Miss Evelyn Crater, of Fullerton, Calif., became the bride of Robert T. Bridges, of Greensboro, N. C., yesterday afternoon at St. Philip's cathedral with Canon John Turner performing the ceremony. The former Miss Crater arrived in Atlanta yesterday morning from Los Angeles and was met by her fiancée, whose arrival preceded that of his bride-to-be by a few hours. Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Dean, prominent Atlantans and close friends of the bridegroom, were also at the station to greet the lovely belle from California and were the only attendants in the wedding, acting as best man and matron of honor, respectively. After a few days in Atlanta Mr. Bridges and his bride will go to Greensboro, N. C., to reside, the former being district agent for the Atlantic Life Insurance Company in that city.

Born in Atlanta as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Crater, yesterday's bride at the age of three months moved with her parents to Greensboro, N. C., where she spent her early girlhood and where her father was advertising manager for the Greensboro Daily News. The bride received her education at the North Carolina College for Women, going immediately after her graduation to Fullerton, Cal., where her father is advertising manager of the Daily News-Tribune in that western city. The bridegroom is the son of R. T. Bridges, of Greensboro, N. C., and, like his bride, he is popular with a wide circle of friends in North Carolina.

Mrs. John E. Murphy Gives Luncheon for Mrs. Carrington

Mrs. Henry S. Carrington, of New York city, the attractive guest of Mrs. John E. Murphy, Whitehead at her home on Peachtree road, is being entertained at a series of social affairs during her visit here. Yesterday she was central figure at an informal luncheon given by Mrs. John E. Murphy, mother of Mrs. Whitehead, at her home on Peachtree street.

The luncheon table was overlaid with an Italian cutwork cloth, and in the center was a crystal bowl filled with pink roses. The crystal was used in the table decorations, with a color scheme of pink and white effectively carried out.

Covers were placed for a few close friends of Mrs. Carrington, whom she met during her visit to Mrs. Whitehead last winter.

Little Anne Donovan Celebrates Birthday.

Miss Mamie Raine entertained at a party Sunday afternoon in her apartment in the Georgian Terrace, honoring her niece, little Anne Donovan, of Rome, who celebrated her first birthday. The table was graced in the center with a cake embossed in pink roses, and adorned with one pink candle, symbolic of the age of the little honor guest, who is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donovan, of Rome, former residents of Atlanta. A cluster of red, blue, purple and green balloons were suspended from the chandelier, and paper caps were given the guests as souvenirs.

Little Miss Donovan wore a frock of blue silk, and Mrs. Marion Watson, of Montgomery, Ala.; Mrs. William C. Wardlaw, and Mrs. Jack Donovan, of Rome, sisters of Miss Raine, assisted in entertaining. The guests were Misses Jeanette Wilcoxson, Corbel Orme Hardin, Barbara Hirsch, Edna Raine Watson, of Montgomery, Ala.; Nancy Boston Raine, of Marietta, Ga.; Betty Croft and Billy Fisch.

Miss Leeds and Hayden Scruggs Wed at Heflin, Ala., Ceremony

Mrs. Hayden Scruggs, whose marriage took place last Saturday in Heflin, Ala., the lovely bride having been Miss Dorothy Leeds, daughter of Mrs. Livingston Allaire Leeds, and a niece of Mrs. Hoke Smith.

Dan Cupid traveled in the same automobile with Miss Dorothy Allaire Leeds and Ernest Hayden Scruggs, accompanying them to Heflin, Ala., where the little love and played a stellar role in their marriage last Saturday, the ceremony being performed at 1 o'clock, November 15, by Dr. T. Wessinger, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. James Carmichael, of Marietta, intimate friend of the bride and bridegroom, went along to witness the tying of the matrimonial knot, and assist Dan Cupid in chaperoning.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Scruggs is the culmination of a romance begun two years ago when the bride, an only daughter of Mrs. Livingston Allaire Leeds and the late Mr. Leeds, arrived in Atlanta with her mother to establish residence at the Georgian Terrace. The bride and bridegroom returned here Saturday afternoon and will make their home temporarily with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Scruggs, at 845 Parkway drive.

Mrs. Scruggs, a beautiful young woman of the blonde type of loveliness, is a member of the senior class at Washington Seminary, being regarded as one of the most popular and attractive members of the student body. She went abroad last summer with her mother, Mrs. Leeds, and her maternal aunt, Mrs. H. K. Smith, sailing last May from New York city, and returned to the United States in October. She enjoyed the cultural advantages offered by travel in her own country before taking the European trip.

Mr. Scruggs is a member of the sophomore class at Emory University, where he is studying for an A. B. degree, and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. His mother was formerly Miss Edna Wade, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Judge H. Wade, of Atlanta, and his only sister is Miss Ruth Scruggs.

The bride celebrated her seventeenth birthday while in Europe last June and the bridegroom was 20 years old last Friday, the day before he became a bachelor. Their love for and devotion to one another was known to and approved of by their families, but it was the hope of these immediate relatives that they delay the marriage until after the bride graduated from Washington Seminary in June, 1931. But love has laughed and will always continue to laugh at locksmiths, and Heflin, Ala., offered the haven where marriage bonds do not have to be posted five days in advance and relatives do not offer objections.

Mrs. Leeds, mother of the bride, is in New York city, but was telegraphed the interesting news immediately upon the bride and bridegroom's return from Alabama, and she wired her blessings to her children. Mr. and Mrs. Scruggs received congratulations from a host of friends as soon as their marriage became known yesterday and the bridegroom announced his decision to continue his studies at college.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before an improvised altar banked with palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums, interspersed with slender tapers in silver holders. Around the room were placed floor baskets of the stately chrysanthemums and bowls of roses which made a beautiful setting for the wedding party.

Prior to the ceremony a program of musical music was rendered by Mrs. E. G. Ruffner, who sang "O Promise Me," and Mrs. Grace J. Harlee, who played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin." Little Myrtle Dunham was the ring-bearer and only attendant. She wore a frock of pink chiffon and carried the ring in the heart of a lily.

The bride, who possesses the titian type of beauty, was lovely in her traveling suit of brown with a blouse of batiste. Her shoes, bag, and gloves were of brown and her hat was an imported model of brown French felt. She carried an arm bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

Dr. and Mrs. Cofer entertained at an informal reception, receiving with the host and hostess were the bride and bridegroom. The dining room was decorated with roses and ferns and the bride's table was centered with a bowl of white roses and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett left for a wedding trip by motor for points of interest in Florida before going to Tampa, where they will make their home.

Junior League Jottings

MRS. REGINALD FLEET, Editor

The performance of Junior League marionettes on Saturday morning was one of the most successful ever given, from an entertainment point of view as well as a financial point of view. The plays were particularly well chosen as the enthusiastic response of an audience certainly showed. It would be difficult to select a star of the show, as all the members of the cast read their lines and manipulated their marionettes with the skill of professionals, but the performance of Mrs. Rutherford Ellis as Brer Rabbit was so outstanding, particularly in "The Tar Baby," that it brought forth rounds of applause and laughter from the entire audience and will be remembered for some time to come.

The second lecture in the provisional course will be given at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Eggleston Memorial hospital. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry Grady, Jr., the provisional members will inspect the hospital, particularly the Junior League ward. Miss Jessie Canfield, the superintendent of the hospital, will give a talk to the provisional members, telling them of the scope of the work of the hospital and the part played by the Atlanta Junior League in this work.

Mrs. Trimble Johnson, the chairman of arts and interests, has announced a second lecture in the "arts and interests" program series. Dr. W. W. Memminger will give a reading of "The King's Henchman," by Edna St. Vincent Millay, to the members of the Junior League and their friends on Tuesday, November 25, in the new gallery of the High Museum of Art. This will also be the third lecture in the provisional course, being the "arts and interests" lecture for the 20 provisional members of the league.

Dr. Memminger is well known as a delightful reader and the combination of "The King's Henchman" and Dr. Memminger will assemble a large group at the museum on Tuesday next.

Since August 15 two members of the Atlanta Junior League have served as hostesses each day at the tea room of Rich's. The work has proven very pleasant to the members of the league and, according to the management of Rich's, very satisfactory to them. Mrs. Norman Colee is the chairman of this activity of the league. On her committee are 32 members of the league. On Monday the hostesses are Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Jr., Mrs. William Ogden, Mrs. Harry Stearns, Jr., Tuesday, Mrs. Norman Colee and Miss Frances Barnett; Wednesday, Miss Virginia Torrance, Miss Lena Knox and Miss Sara DeSousa; Thursday, Mrs. T. W. Tift, Miss Augusta Porter, Miss Katherine Howell and Miss Virginia Courts; Friday, Mrs. John Slaton, Jr., Mrs. John Coleman and Mrs. Dan Woodward; Saturday, Mrs. Lawrence Willet, Mrs. Edwin Lockridge, Mrs. Julian Chambers and Mrs. J. H. Lenhardt. Substituting on any of the above days are Miss Catherine Norcross, Miss Billie Johnson and Misses Frank Boston, Vernon Eads, Frank Beall, Bruce Woodruff, W. B. Disbro, Jr., Turner Jones, Frank Owens, Foster Hume, Jr., John Knox and William Wardlaw, Jr. This group has proven itself more than faithful in the work and gracious as well as efficient.

At the recent meeting of the national board of the Association of Junior Leagues of America a number of committees were appointed. One of the most interesting of these is an "international committee of admissions and arbitration." This committee was proposed at the national conference in New York. It is to decide on the admission of leagues in foreign countries and to form international policies. Miss Katherine Hiller, of Wilmington, Del., is the chairman of this important group, important because international expansion would bring about quite a change in the association of Junior Leagues. On her committee are Junior League representatives from Harrisburg, Washington, East Orange, Pasadena, New York, Mexico City, Montreal and Toronto. Miss Hiller will make the report of the committee at the next national conference.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER SEES THE SINGER SING.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who doubts his eyes must doubt in "Whitefoot," said Peter, "are you singing?"

"You'll find most folks on this agreed," Old Mother Nature.

"This is quite true. Few people doubt the evidence of their own eyes. If they see a thing, that is enough for them. What they have seen they have seen and so must be so. It seldom occurs to them that they may see what they intend to see instead of what actually is, or that it is a comparatively easy matter to deceive the eye, much easier than it is to fool the ear or the nose, though both of these may be fooled."

Peter Rabbit sat staring up at Whitefoot the Wood Mouse on the top of an old stump in the Green Forest, and on Peter's face was the funniest look, a look of mingled suspicion and disbelief. Peter was beginning to suspect that he was the victim of a joke, yet he couldn't believe it. He actually doubted his own eyes. Yes, sir, he did so. He doubted if he really saw what he seemed to see.

What was it Peter saw? It was little Whitefoot the Wood Mouse sitting up above him on the edge of the top of the old stump and singing. Yes, sir, Whitefoot was singing. He was singing the very song that had so long puzzled Peter. Yet, because Peter had been so sure that the mysterious singer must be one of the feathered folk, he was having hard work to believe his eyes and ears now. Both told him that that song was coming from the pretty little throat of Whitefoot, but it just couldn't be so. It couldn't.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP)—After five days of prosperity, share prices withdrew behind minus signs today. With the short interest reduced by last week's covering and the public obviously unwilling to take the "buy now" philosophy to the stock market, profit taking and short selling encountered little resistance. The averages showed a loss of 4.4 points, which hit a sizeable chunk out of last week's rise of 11.9. Not only were the Friday and Saturday gains erased, but part of Thursday's improvement was also cancelled. Many important stocks dropped 3 to 4 points; a few more volatile issues closed 5 to 9 lower. Sales were small compared with the activity on the recent rally, totalling only 2,137,770 shares.

In contrast to the weakness of stocks was the strength of wheat, which closed 3-4 to 2-2 cents higher in response to the farm board's program for holding "deadweight" wheat. In the market, corn rallied 1 to 2-3 cents, but cotton futures were only steady, 2 points lower to 3 points higher at the close. Copper shares lost their luster. Doubt was expressed in some quarters as to whether the 12-cent price would hold. A few dealers, in fact, cut to 11-12 today, although the large producers held at the upper level, and it was said that the price cutting had been done chiefly by speculators. Nevertheless, uncertainties in the situation were sufficient to bring in substantial realizing in the red metal stocks which dropped 4 to 4 points. American Smelting was the largest loser.

The strength of the general credit position kept Wall Street from being alarmed by the flurry of bank closings in Tennessee, Kentucky, and Arkansas. The difficulties of these institutions, it appeared, had been caused by public nervousness that had its origin in the insolvency of a prominent southern banking house. Foreign exchanges were irregular, featured by a break of about one-third of a cent in the Spanish peseta, which was affected by disturbances in Spain. Sterling was steady, although bankers here were inclined to discount reports that France was prepared to extend a billion dollar long term credit to Great Britain.

FEEDSTUFF PRICES

FEEDSTUFF PRICES DECLINE FURTHER

Feed grains and hay markets were somewhat irregular, while feedstuffs continued to decline during the week ending November 17, according to the grain, hay and feed market news service of the United States bureau of agricultural economics.

Corn markets were weak with increased movement of the new crop and the usual seasonal adjustment to a new crop basis. Shipping demand continued of only moderate volume, while the better quality as indicated by a return of the crop of the estimate was an upward revision of the factor. The total United States production is now placed at 2,004,000,000 bushels, as compared with 2,614,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Stocks on farms at the first of November were a little lower than in November, 1929, and were placed at 72,000,000 bushels, compared with 76,000,000 last season, but stocks in commercial channels at the first of the year were 10,000,000 bushels less.

over aboutn showed a slight increase over those of a year ago. The total supply of corn at the first of November, including crop and carry-over, is now placed at 2,171,000,000 bushels, which is a decrease of around 520,000,000 bushels from that of last season. At the close of the market November 15 No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at Kansas City at 71-74c, at Atlanta November 17 in bulk at 95c and at Birmingham at 88 1-2c per bushel. Georgia shelled corn was quoted at 80c.

Oats markets showed independent strength despite the weakness in other grains and prices averaged fractional-cents higher for the week. No. 3 white oats were quoted November 15 at Chicago at 31 1-4c-32 3-4c, at Kansas city at 32-33 1-2c and on November feed markets continued weak and buying was limited by poor facilities in many sections, together with mild open weather, which continues favorable for pastures and feed crops. Demand during the week was almost entirely for immediate needs only. Jobbers and retailers do not seem inclined to book because of the generally unsettled marketing conditions. Offerings, though plentiful.

pressed for sale. The bulk of wheat received at southeastern City and St. Louis with smaller amounts from Texas and Tennessee. Bran was quoted November 1915, in carlots, sight draft at Kansas City at $16.50-17.50, at St. Louis at $19-19.50, at Memphis at $20.50, at Atlanta November 1915 at $27 and at Birmingham at $28 per ton.

below levels for the previous year. It has shown relatively more than other commercial feed-ingredients due to the holding of prices for stocks and the holding supply. Stocks of cottonseed at the beginning of the present month were 10 per cent higher than in recent years. Stocks of soybean cake and meal were 15 per cent heavier than in recent years.

usually light export demand. The disappearance since August, however, has been somewhat irregular. Wet weather was largely responsible for a lighter movement of rice in the southeast. Mills in the north were reported accumulating stocks of meal, but offerings were generally light. Demand was quiet in the west, mostly to scattered carlots than carlot shipments. Immediate needs only: 43,000 cuttings.

meal was quoted at $29.36 at Memphis on November 17 and in southeast Georgia at $27.75, and in southeast generally good. Hulls generally good. Markets were somewhat firm the past week, depending on volume of receipts. Offerings generally light, while demand moderate to dull. Markets and good pastures over a considerable portion of the country is largely responsible for the lack of hay receipts. Extensive local roughages, such as sorghum, peanut, soybean and pea straw, corn husks and fodder concentrate the demand for hay in the southeast. Birdsports heavy stocks of hay are held by a few large lots of local retailers and a few large dealers. U. S. No. 1 alfalfa was the most popular variety.

CURB SE BACK

IN QUOT TRADING

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(P)—The curb market sank back in quiet trading today, losing much of the gains of Friday and Saturday. The transactions aggregating 514,200 shares were the smallest for a full day's session in two weeks.

The reaction was regarded as primarily technical, after the steady recovery from the low points reached a week ago. Profit taking by in-and-out traders was in substantial volume, and the cushion of short covering was gone for the moment.

Electric Bond & Share lost 2 3/4 points in a large turnover, but American Superpower, also active, moved up a fraction, in contrast to the general trend elsewhere. American Gas, frequently a wide mover, dropped back 6 points, losing about one-third of last week's gains.

Coppers reacted substantially, as dealers quoted the red metal at 11 1/2 cents, after last week's high of 12. Noranda lost 2 and Newmont 3 points. In the oils, Standard Oil of New York was a weak spot, losing more than 2 points. Gulf, Vacuum and Humble lost nearly as much. Cities Service and Indiana reacted about a point.

In the industrials, a few lightly traded issues moved higher. Glen Alden Coal advanced 3/4 point. Columbia Pictures 2 and New York Steam up 1/2 point. American Cyanamid "B" rose 1/4 point. General Aviation lost 1/2 point. Match new, declined 1 1/2. In the specialties, Goldman Sachs Trading slipped back 3/4.

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

INSTALLMENT XLVII.

Then I sat down in the chair opposite Hawes to think.

In two minutes time Melchett would have arrived.

I took up the anonymous letter and read it through again for the third time.

I don't know how long I sat there—only a few minutes, in reality, I suppose. Yet it seemed as though an eternity had passed when I heard the door open, and turning my head, I looked up to see Melchett entering the room.

"What's this, Clement? What does it all mean?"

Of the two letters in my hand I selected one and passed it to him. He read it aloud in a low voice:

"My dear Clement—
It is a peculiarly unpleasant thing that I have to say. After all, I think I prefer writing it. We can discuss it at a later date. It concerns the recent publications. I am sorry to say that I have satisfied myself beyond any possible doubt as to the identity of the culprit. Painful as it is for me to have to accuse an ordained priest of the church, my duty is only too painfully clear. An example must be made, and—Melchett looked at me questioning. At this point the writing trailed off in an undistinguishable scrawl where death had overtaken the writer's hand. Melchett drew a deep breath, then looked at Hawes.

"So that's the solution! The one man we never even considered. And remorse drove him to confess!"

"He's been very queer lately," I said.

Suddenly Melchett strode across to the sleeping man with a sharp exclamation. He seized him by the shoulder and shook him, at first gently, then with increasing violence.

"He's not asleep! He's drugged! What's the meaning of this?"

His eye went to the empty cachet box. He picked it up.

"Has he—?"

"I think so," I said. "He showed me these the other day. Told me he'd been warned against an overdose. It's his way out, poor chap. Perhaps the best way. It's not for us to judge him."

But Melchett was chief constable of the county before anything else. The arguments that appealed to me had no weight with him. He had caught a murderer and he wanted his murderer hanged.

In one second he was at the telephone, jerking the receiver up and down impatiently until he got a reply. He asked for Haydock's number. Then there was a further pause, during which he stood, his ear to the telephone and his eyes on the limp figure in the chair.

"Hullo—hullo—hullo—is that Dr. Haydock? Will the doctor come around at once to High street? Mr. Hawes. It's urgent—what's that? Well, what number is it then?" O, sorry.

He rang off, fuming.

Wrong number, wrong number—always wrong numbers! And a man's life hanging on it. "Hullo—you gave me the wrong number—yes—don't waste time—give me nine—nine—nine, not five."

Another period of impatiently—shorter this time.

"Hullo—is that you, Haydock? Melchett speaking. Will you go to High street at once, will you? Hawes has taken some kind of overdose. At once, man, it's vital."

He rang off, strode impatiently up and down the room.

"Why on earth you didn't get hold of the doctor at once, Clement, I can't think. Your wits must have all gone wool gathering."

Fortunately it never occurs to Melchett that any one can possibly have any different ideas on conduct to those he holds himself. I said nothing and he went on:

"Where did you find this letter?"

"Crumpled on the floor—where it had fallen from his hand."

"Extraordinary business—that old maid was right about its being the wrong note we found. Wonder how she tumbled to that. But what an ass the fellow was not to destroy this one. Fancy keeping it—the most damaging evidence you can imagine?"

"Human nature is full of inconsistencies,"

"If it weren't, I doubt if we should ever catch a murderer! Sooner or later they always do some fool thing. You're looking very under the weather, Clement. I suppose this has been the most awful shock to you?"

"It has. As I say, Hawes has been queer in his manner for some time, but I never dream—"

"Who would? Hullo, that sounds like a car." He went across to the window, pushing up the sash and leaning out.

"Yes, it's Haydock all right."

A moment later the doctor entered the room.

In a few succinct words Melchett explained the situation.

Haydock is not a man who ever shows his feelings. He merely raised his eyebrows, nodded, and strode across to his patient. He felt his pulse, raised the eyelid and looked intently at the eye.

Then he turned to Melchett.

"Want me to save him for the gallows?" he asked. "He's pretty far gone, you know. It will be touch and go, anyway. I doubt if I can bring him round."

"Do everything possible."

"Right."

He busied himself with the case he had brought with him, preparing a hypodermic injection which he injected into Hawes' arm. Then he stood up.

"Best thing is to run him into Much Benham—to the hospital there. Give me a hand to get him down to the car."

We both lent our assistance. As Haydock climbed into the driving seat he threw a parting remark over his shoulder.

"You won't be able to hang him, you know, Melchett."

"You mean he won't recover?"

"May or may not. I didn't mean that. I mean that even if he does recover—well, the poor devil wasn't responsible for his actions. I shall give evidence to that effect."

"What did he mean by that?" asked Melchett as we went upstairs again.

I explained that Hawes had been a victim of encephalitis lethargica.

"Sleeping sickness, eh? Always some good reason nowadays for every dirty action that's done. Don't you agree?"

But at this moment there was an interruption—and a most amazing one. The door opened and Miss Marple walked into the room.

She was pink and somewhat flustered and seemed to realize our condition of bewilderment.

"So sorry—so very sorry—to intrude—good evening, Colonel Melchett. As I say, I am so sorry, but hearing that Mr. Hawes was taken ill, I felt I must come round, and see if I couldn't do something."

She paused. Colonel Melchett was regarding her in a somewhat disgusted fashion.

"Very kind of you, Miss Marple," he said dryly. "But no need to trouble. How did you know, by the way?"

It was the question I had been yearning to ask.

"The telephone," explained Miss Marple. "So careless with their wrong numbers, aren't they? You spoke to me first, then I was Dr. Haydock. My number is three five."

"So that was it!" I exclaimed.

"And so," she continued, "I just came round to see if I could be of any use."

"Very kind of you," said Melchett again, even more dryly this time. "But nothing to be done. Haydock's taken him off to the hospital."

"Actually to hospital? O, that's a great relief! I am so very glad to hear it. He'll be quite safe there. When you say 'nothing to be done,' you don't mean that there's nothing to be done for him, do you? You don't mean that he won't recover?"

"It's very doubtful," I said.

Miss Marple's eyes had gone to the cachet box.

"I suppose he took an overdose?" she said.
